The European Association of Hospital Pharmacists represents more than 25.000 hospital pharmacists in 35 European countries and is the only association of national organisations representing hospital pharmacists at European and international levels.

The European Association of Hospital Pharmacists (EAHP) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education as a provider of continuing pharmacy education.

THE 2024 EAHP CONGRESS

Dear Colleagues,

I am delighted to announce that the EAHP Congress will welcome you in Bordeaux, France, between 20-22nd March 2024. Hospital pharmacists from Europe and beyond will reconvene and join forces to further shape the future of our profession together - a future where new horizons, roles and competencies for hospital pharmacists will arise!

There is, however, a complex myriad of fine balances within our economic and ecologic systems that necessitate to approach our preparedness for the future from multiple perspectives. Professional readiness, up-to-date knowledge of the current proceedings of pharmacology, pharmaceutical care and supply chain management are by themselves a greatly multi-layered set of skills in our profession. A smart (re)positioning of our roles, on the other hand, not only involves a proactive sense of direction, but also implies hospital pharmacists will assume more roles and, consequently, more responsibilities as well.

To ensure that our future positions within healthcare teams are a sustainable one, professional societies, policy makers and relevant stakeholders shall act in cooperation so that pharmacy schools would have sufficiently qualified graduates in sufficient numbers. It is also our joint responsibility to measure, analyze and show decision-makers the real-life impact of hospital and clinical pharmacy interventions to healthcare outcomes and pharmacoeconomic metrics, thus enabling true, value-driven and evidence-informed policy making. The best possible treatment of our patients requires sustainability at all levels of healthcare systems. It is imperative to advocate for an ever-deepening collaboration with our colleagues serving in community pharmacies and non-hospital clinical settings in order to deliver seamless and high-quality pharmaceutical care. And last but not least, our endeavours for the future must be such that our beloved planet can sustain and support them.

These are the main messages and focus areas that we will present to you and discuss with you through our well-known format of keynote lectures, seminars, workshops, interactive sessions and symposia.

We are very much looking forward to you all joining EAHP in Bordeaux and meanwhile, we will do our absolute best to prepare a venue and a professional atmosphere to enhance your experience of learning, networking and thinking together.

See you all in Bordeaux!

Dr. András Süle, EAHP President

FOREWORD BY THE CHAIRMAN OF THE SCIENTIFIC COMMITTEE

Dear Friends of European Hospital Pharmacy,

"Sustainable healthcare - Opportunities and strategies" will be the theme for the presentations at the 2024 EAHP Congress, in Bordeaux. We help you to see opportunities and build strategies for a sustainable healthcare. We want to think about introducing and maintaining a high quality care level we, and our planet, can afford.

The 28th EAHP Congress will offer you inspiration to reshape your processes and services towards a sustainable format with respect for quality, patient-safety and equality. It will not surprise you that sustainability, carbon footprints and polypharmacy are the themes for our three keynote lectures. Over 20 seminars and workshops will be presented with topics related to stakeholder involvement in sustainable healthcare, green hospital, carbon footprint, stability studies, cooperation over country borders, patient involvement in clinical pharmacy, patient safety, health technology assessment, antimicrobial stewardship, use of real world data and interprofessional education. Also a seminar dedicated to a current topic in pharmacotherapy will be added.

Along with keynotes and seminars, best practices will be disseminated by our abstract poster prize nominees and through the Good Practice Initiatives. In addition, workshops within the theme of the congress will be given providing inspiration on psychosocial wellbeing of healthcare professionals, identifying options for sustainability, check of compounding appropriateness, pharmacogenetic testing, critical shortages and digital clinical education.

Based on the success, the Synergy Satellite programme is extended and will continue with many relevant topics. Also an interactive Young Professional Session will be organised as a panel discussion in order to share experience and expertise.

Join the 28th EAHP Congress in Bordeaux, the French capital of wine, also known for its gastronomy and the UNESCO world heritage 'Port de la Lune'. As one of the six university cities of France and with its reputable academies it is the ideal place to share knowledge and to connect with EAHP members and participants from around the world.

Prof. Dr. Thomas De Rijdt, EAHP Scientific Committee Chairman
