COVID-19

Hospital Pharmacists fighting at the frontline for patients during the pandemic

Two years have passed since the COVID-19 pandemic started. Since the pandemic started EAHP has been working (alongside its 35 national associations) to support hospital pharmacists accross Europe to fight the pandemic. EAHP has decided to put together a report to highlight all the work done by EAHP and our members during the pandemic. In addition, this report also contains key recommendations to face future health threats. The EAHP report also shows how key hospital pharmacists have been as healthcare professionals beeing in the frontline of the pandemic.
