

[1] About the EJHP

The European Journal of Hospital Pharmacy (EJHP) [2] is the only official journal of the European Association of Hospital Pharmacists (EAHP) and is committed to advancing the science, practice and profession of hospital pharmacy. As the premier communication platform for hospital pharmacists worldwide, EJHP is a major source for continuing education as well as updates on advances in the practice and standard of pharmaceutical care for patients.

With peer reviewed papers, features, conference reports and more on topics covering all aspects of hospital pharmacy from both a scientific and practice perspective, the journal aims to highlight innovations and developments in pharmaceutical and biomedical sciences, promoting safe, efficacious and cost-effective pharmaceutical care for hospital pharmacists to practise.

BMJ publishes EJHP on behalf of the European Association of Hospital Pharmacists 6 times per year.

How to submit a paper?

If you are considering submitting a manuscript to the European Journal of Hospital Pharmacy (EJHP), here is some useful information to help you with the process. EJHP welcomes manuscript submissions from authors based anywhere in the world, not just Europe. The manuscript does not necessarily need to be about hospital pharmacy, but the topic should be relevant to hospital pharmacists.

It is important that you comply with the guidance for layout, formatting and length of your submission. You will find this information in the journal's instructions for authors [9].

Unless otherwise instructed, we can only accept manuscripts that are submitted via the journal's online submission system [10]. If you have never submitted to EJHP before, you will need to register your details and set up an account username and password. This will be needed for you to keep track of the progress of your paper and submit any revisions following peer review. Authors should contact the journal's editorial office [11] with any queries regarding the submission process.

The Editor-in-Chief is happy to provide a personal mentoring service to authors that have never submitted to an academic journal before. Please contact Phil Wiffen [12] directly to discuss your manuscript prior to submission.
