

In the recently published Volume 19, Issue 3 of the European Journal of Hospital Pharmacy Professor PerHartvigHonoré explores the subjective experience of pain, and the need for good communications with patients to provide the right pain treatment.

The editorial article also asks questions about measuring the success of paintreatment, reflects on the difficulties patients having in giving expression to feelings of pain and underlines the need for comprehensive pain analysis.

Article here [1].

13 July 2012

---

Links

[1] <http://ejhp.bmj.com/content/19/3/276.full>