

EAHP has launched a new website this week designed to give an improved user experience and easy access to a wide range of key information for hospital pharmacists.

The new website offers a clearer interface, and promotes EAHP's social media platforms on Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn. It is an information hub for:

- EAHP event news, such as the annual Congress and Academy educational events;
- The latest announcements and statements of the Association;
- An index of EAHP campaign related material on key topics such as hospital pharmacy specialisation, medicines bar coding, clinical trial regulation and medicines shortages;
- Links to the latest editions of the European Journal of Hospital Pharmacy; and,
- Member Forums

The web site redevelopment, combined with EAHP's social media presence, are designed to make www.eahp.eu <sup>[1]</sup> the first choice internet destination for information related to the practise of hospital pharmacy and its importance to patients.
